Re: Tutorial Services Project

The New Hampshire Department of Education has been notified that our vendor, Inspiration Holistic Health Center, is no longer able to fulfill their commitment to the Tutorial Services Project. The NH Department of Education has been informed that any hours worked by the tutors prior to January 21, 2008 should be submitted to Inspiration Holistic Health Center for payment. We would like to thank the Inspiration Holistic Health Center for the work they have done over the past few months with this project.

As a result of the abrupt withdrawal of vendor services, the NH Department of Education is currently looking at how to continue the successful implementation of the Tutorial Services Project. Until all options are explored, this project has been put on hold and we will notify you when a successful solution has been determined.

We thank you for your patience during this transition.
