STEP 1. USE THE CALMING BREATH TO QUIET YOUR BIOLOGY

CALMING BREATHE SKILL—Do 15 rounds—90 seconds to reset!

Less is more unless we are talking about the breath. More is better.

Try 5-15 minutes twice a day.

1. Feet on the floor. Back supported.
2. Eyes slightly open. Gaze at floor.
3. Breathe into your belly—4 COUNTS IN: 6 COUNTS OUT.
4. PALMS PRESS into thighs on IN BREATHE
5. PALMS RELEASE on OUT BREATHE

STEP 2. IDENTIFY YOUR REACTION STYLE

EXPLODER
WORRIER
AVOIDER SCARED STILL

STEP 3. DESCRIBE YOUR STRESSFUL SITUATION &
THE REACTION THAT BOTHERS YOU THE MOST.

STEP 4. Make a list of what you can do to help you manage better.
(breathe, talk to a friend or person you trust, painting, walking…)

STEP 5. MAKE A WRITTEN PLAN TO MANAGE THE STRESSFUL SITUATION.

LIST THE SITUATION WHAT YOU WILL DO:

BEFORE

DURING

AFTER

75. YOUR IDEA HERE_______________________

A SELF-CARE STRATEGY THAT NEVER FAILS:

When you’re down, write down a list of things you are grateful for. Consider setting cell your phone alarm for multiple reminders throughout the day. Gratitude doesn’t change circumstances. It does change how we cope.
2. Is that a HELPFUL Thought?

Changing what we tell ourselves.

Do you ever think or say:

Things will never get better.
I should be coping better.
I should have done more.
It’s unfair.
I can’t trust anyone.

Unhelpful thoughts—we all have them.

These are the types of thoughts we may have when we are under stress.

We may fill our minds with these thoughts that make us feel sad, hopeless, fearful, worried, guilty, angry, frustrated.

Can you imagine saying “Things will never get better” to a young child? We would not do that. So why do we say or think these things to ourselves?
4 Key Ideas You Need to Know about Unhelpful Thoughts:

1. Unhelpful thoughts become our “go to” thoughts whenever we are overwhelmed or distressed. These thoughts lead us to feel helpless and out of control, unsafe, guilty, unable to cope, and angry or full of blame.

2. Unhelpful Thoughts: You may be right. Maybe there is nothing you can do. And you may be wrong. Right. Wrong. It doesn’t matter.

   HOW DOES THE THOUGHT MAKE YOU FEEL? DOES THE THOUGHT HELP YOU OR IMMOBILIZE YOU?

3. The more time you spend replacing unhelpful thoughts with helpful thoughts, the more energy you will have to get moving and recover from the problem or stressor.

HELPFUL THINKING

IS THAT A HELPFUL THOUGHT? JES SAYIN’

CATCH YOUR UNHELPFUL THOUGHTS.

REPLACE THEM IMMEDIATELY.

HAVE A FRIEND CATCH YOU, TOO!
3. Building Healthy Social Connections

Because we were not meant to go it alone through life...

Who are your “go to” people or resources when:
- You feel isolated or disconnected?
- You want to share your experiences of feelings?
- Help you feel that you fit in and belong?
- Give you good advice?
- You need practical help?

1. Develop your social “solar system.” Put yourself in the center. What other people and resources are in your social solar system.

2A. Review your social “solar system.” We need different folks for different strokes.
   a. Who are your most important connections right now?
      __________________________
   b. Who are the folk you share your feelings or experiences with?
      __________________________
   c. Who can you go to for advice or help with your problems?
      __________________________
   d. Who do you want to spend more time with socially in the next couple of weeks? ______
   e. Who can help you with practical tasks?
      __________________________
   f. Who needs your help or support right now?
      __________________________

2B. Review your map.
- Who or what is missing?
- Are there loved ones or friends with whom you are not currently connected, but want to be?
- People you want to spend more time with?
- People you want to spend less time with?
- Relationships that need improving?
• Ways to help others?
• Do you want to increase your social activities or give to others by joining a community group?

3. Make a social support plan.
• Select one or two areas in your map that you want to change in the next couple of days or weeks.

  ______________________________________
• What will you do to connect?
  ______________________________________
• Will you need any help to get the plan started? ________________________________

For each strategy use:
1. What do I have? ID Resources & Strengths
2. What do I need or want to improve?
3. Who can help me?
4. What’s my plan? (Did I write it down? Or is it in my head with all the other--“I’ll get to it! Don’t have time! Oh, now I remember—I forgot to take time for me…)
5. How will I know if my plan is working?

The Plan...

√ Stay the course. Use pithy clichés, posters, post-its, alarm reminders to get back on track.
√ Recognize & appreciate your progress.

♥ Do not go it alone! Build a Community of Care.
√ Form a social atom with people who want to support each other.
√ Find ways to connect with them. (FB page. Weekly staff meetings. Instagram group. Snapchat…)
√ Use the shared language of support and resilience.
√ Have a self-care, positive coping, and strengthening resilience weekly “Let’s do IT” challenge.
