

Reports from school reporters by reporter type: Guidance counselors typically account for the largest share of reports from schools, and have seen a significant decline in reports.

Reports from schools by reporter type

Guidance counselors and other school staff represent groups where we could use extra capacity to support kids and families.

Why this matters:
Reports from school based reporters typically make up a large share of reports, and have declined significantly since the beginning of the COVID-19 crisis.

Reports from all SAUs
Apr 2019	Apr 2020	% change
590	277	-53%

Source: NH SACWIS - Bridges extracted 5/3/2020. Note: Unlike the overall reporter analysis SAU calculations are made using the "school" field, which allows for the inclusion of school nurses and social workers.

School Staff – Other includes school staff who don't match any of the pre-written categories (e.g. paraprofessionals, Deans of students, librarians, special education coordinators, behavior specialists) and reports where the name of the school is used as the reporter and no individual reporter is given.